Hello Crimson I was wondering if you will be adding a map forum at all? there is a mod forum so why not a map forum where people can talk about their maps and look for help etc....?

This would fit completely inside the mod forum. Modding does include mapping.

Sir Phoenixx This would fit completely inside the mod forum. Modding does include mapping.

I agree any mapping queries should be put in the Mod Forums as mapping is a part of modding.

Modding and mapping are just about the same. Modding is making maps with special things in them such as extra vehicles, and other stuff. Mapping is just about making maps but they would both go in the same place.

I feel this is a good idea. Mapping is worthy of special attention. The mod forum should apply more with editing (modifying) the game rather than mapping (expanding) the game.

Commando no. 448I feel this is a good idea. Mapping is worthy of special attention. The mod forum should apply more with editing (modifying) the game rather than mapping (expanding) the game.

Than Vehicle modeling and Weapon modeling should belong in their own forums also.

I'm going to have to decline that suggestion. Mapping and modding go hand-in-hand and it would be difficult to separate the two.
