These guys did a stellar job and wiped out all the spam in the forums in about 3 minutes. Thanks so much, guys! It probably took us less time to delete it than it took to put it up.

Why did this happen? I had removed flood control a couple days ago because everyone was being good... now you see that I can never do that again. I've moved it up to an aggressive 60 seconds... and I might consider lowering it to 30-45 seconds later... but for now, we'll all have to suffer because someone is a moron.

And by the way, Madtone IS coming for you. And you won't like it when he finds you.

There shouldn't be any reason for anyone to need to post more than once a minute really.

Thanks for the thanks by the way, but it was no trouble.

If you're truly appreciative, drop off some beer in the #n00bstories chat channel. Corona with lime preferred.
