whats the deal with the forums lately? they have been really slow, like during the day sometimes it says page cannot be displayed, or today, it isn't loading any images. and yet, during all of this, if i go to n00bstories.com, everything works fine there. whats going on?

also, what is with this thing about the cleanup crew?

TheDragonspecial. someone said something about 20 pages.... what did it all say?

530 spam posts.Is that enough for you?

Nothing, just random bullshit.

ya. thanks. by the way... 60 second flood control is kind of annoying... if ur reading through different topics and want to reply. 40 seconds would be better.

also, its back to normal now. yay.

There was no flood control. That's why the spam attack was sooo big.

It'll take some time before Crimson change it to 50-40secs.

well... 60 isnt that long, in the time you found an itresting topic and you wrote your reply, those 60 sec are long gone... you wont even notice unless you always write short mesages.
