Well the game must have been four hours but I joined with about 30mins or so gone.

They decided to let the Ref get destroyed which I thought wasnt gonna benefit us much seeing it was so early in the game. They also had no Ref.

So he decided to let the ref get destoried then I basically get called a n00b for saying we shouldnt of let it blah blah.

I buy Arts to attack the powerplant from the top which we had control of the top at this point I had about 1500 and we wanted to do a classic flame rush which I thought would of failed seeing they was defencive.

So I attack the power plant and get some score and finally die, buy now hes getting really pissed cause no one else bought a flame tank but not everyone was loaded like he was, he had 8000+

I buy another Art to attack the power plant again due to my money being not to healthy. I get to the top and get a message, he tells me to stop buying Art's and I had to be a team player or he would kick me but getting score for the team doesnt count I guess. I was about 3rd place on Nod.

I tell him straight and I get kicked ah well, I hope some n00b took my place and they lose now.

yeah i got kicked for defending my team map was canyon and I was GDI, we were winning by about 2000-4000 points, we had just taken out their air strip and they just nuked our bar, right when bar was taken out another nuke was layed at ref, a handfull of engies and techs rushed to ref including me, it was placed on the roof right across from silo, I tried to disarm it but it was just out of the effective range of a repair gun and barely damaged it, and of course ref died, I said "that was a cheap ass tactic", and this one player said "that's what GDI gets for point whoring the airstrip lol", i said 'there is a difference between whoring and exploiting dumbass" kick

someone has to do something to remove these retarded moderators
