just bought this game for 15 bucks at EB.

wondering how you guys are enjoying it.

i think i am gonna go through the single player game before throwing myself to the wolves in Online Play.

is there a Co-Op mode in this game, where i can team up with folks to play the normal missions?

Oh boy boy boy, multiplayer is why most poeple bought this game, single player is just..."meh". You joined at a glorious time too. Ren Alert, the total conversion mod for Renegade into Red Alert 1 is being released in the next few days! Now you'll have 2 "games" to play. Red Alert in 3-D, and Tiberium Dawn. If you have no idea what I'm talking about, go to renalert.arm-ent.com. By the way, welcome, and don't be detoured by crazy flame wars, they happen all the time, just ignore them.

so as far as I understand (I haven't played Renegade yet, just finished installing)Renegade places you in the perspective of one of those little Troopers that you can build in the normal C & C games right?

so how does Red Alert transfer into 3d? will it be FPS, like Renegade?

and I read somewhere that an Expansion or something just came out. where do I get it?

btw, that website you gave me did not work.

renalert.arm-ent.com

Sorry about that, forgot the dash. Yes, they made the Ren Alert (clever name eh?) using the Renegade engine, so it will be just like Renegade, except all Red Alert infantry, vehicles, and buildings. There is a public beta out, but there's no point in getting it since they are releasing the whole thing in a couple days.

MasterShakehow do i get usage of the other weapons in the game? seems like i can only use 2 or 3 different weapons.

If you're playing the game online, walk into a friendly building and upto on of the 'Purchase Terminals' (PT's) and press 'E' on the keyboard.

It'll bring up the purchase screen where you can choose from a selection of infantry/vehicles. Once you have enough cash, just double click the item you wanna buy.

And if you're playing the game in single player, you'll pick up more weapons as you progress through the missions.

Hi, I'm Crimson. I inherited these forums from Westwood once they went out of business. Except for the absence of a few users, the forums are pretty much business as usual from the Westwood days... maybe even better because the old moderators didn't visit often and it was frequently overrun with spammers.
