The one thing you don't do in any self-respecting game fan forum is to ask for a serial key for that game...it's a good way to get banned really quickly.

giving out a cd-key is illegal

It sure didn't refer you here to ask about a serial key.

Basically the only way you can get a new cd key is to mail EA your game cds...and you have to pay the postage. If it's not on your CD case, which it should be, or on the manual (europe only), then you got a screwed copy.

We don't have any proof that you didn't just lose your jewel case or something, but 99.99% of people asking for CD Keys are doing it because they downloaded the game illegally and want to play online, no matter what they say.

Thanks y'all. that was more helpfull. Where can you download the game? and why would you do it if you can't play it because you wouldn't be able to install it without the key?

I dont have the jewel case with the key code. Do I send the discs (I have two) to EA games?or westwood? Would anyone have an address?

I tried notifying tech support.
thanks. please give me a addy if you can.

If I were you, I'd just buy the game for $9.99 and be done with it...

You don't have to play online only, but the multiplayer carries this game. Your best and quickest bet to get a new LEGAL cd-key is to go buy it... i've heard it is as low as 5.99 in some places... I saw it at Target for 9.99... go get it!

Look I have the game on original Discs. I just wanted to play it tonight. I did not know that it would be sooo much trouble for someone for a little bit of help. I guess I was asking too much. God forbid should anyone bother to put themselves out and help. Sheesh! dont strain yourselves. Thanks for nothing.

Why are you getting all pissy over someone not giving out their legal cd-key? If you want to go play it tonight goto Walmart, I'm sure the one near you is open 24 hours. I don't care if you have the game on the original discs. with out the cd-key they are frisbees. you're not going to get a cd-key out of anyone in this community. if you sent in your discs to EA, it'll still cost money, and you'll have to wait a long time to get the new one back for sure. So instead of wasting your time sitting here whining because you can't get anyone to give them their cd-key, you could have been to walmart and back already and had it halfway installed.

WTF! You all got pissy with me at first. Why? Yet I kept my composure.
I did not think it was asking too much. Obviously its too big a deal for any of you to help.
Ban me from your site. If you are too inept to help someone out then what good are you? You act like its some big deal. If you all are fags then please ban me from your site. Where I come from we help each other out.
Just forget I ever asked. Wouldnt want any of you to grow some balls and help a fellow gamer out, now would we?

If someone was to give you their CD Key and you were to use it, the person who gave it to you would not be able to play online when you were, so in essence you would be "stealing" their game from them.

It seems like you didn't know this, but that's why everyone's been so hostile. Trying to get CD keys from other players is something highly looked down upon in every online gaming community. So like they all said, no one's just going to hand over their CD key, because that would result in their loss of being able to play.

This isn't just because it's you asking. Every online gaming community will reply in exactly the same manor if it were you or anybody else.

madcowI dont have the jewel case with the key code

So, you've just bought the game, haven't played it one bit and you've already LOST the jewel case? Since when can you lose the case in the time it takes to pickout the CD's and put them into your computer? That's gotta be around 20 seconds, in my opinion that's impossible... hell... that's a miracle.

Just buy it again mate, it'll be less hassle and cost effective if you do.

You'll get no serials from here.

Actually, you got angry and lashed out first. All people said was no they wouldn't help you, or told you how to go about getting a new CD key.

1. You got plenty of help and advice. The advice being to go to the store and buy a copy of renegade for 10 bucks. Just because people won't give you their CDkey for the game they paid for doesn't mean they are "fags" and "not helping".

2. Consider yourself banned, per your request.

Get your freaking ass off the forum and into the store to officially buy it... then we might consider letting you back in.

The old system involved contacting tech support, and they verified that you owned the game. Replacement serial codes were issued that way. Please go this way as by sharing a serial code it's likely to be disabled. Thanks!

Lol, seems like madcow needs to get his beef inspected. I think he got off on a bad foot with this community. He probably does have a legit copy and just lost the case. If he was using a fake copy chances are he would know where to get a cd key for it as well and wouldn't bother asking on this forum. Then again you never know.

you don't have to send in your cd's when ever i lose my cd key i make a photo copy of the cd and they e-mail me the key, simple as that, but if your going to start waiting on EA for something then you should just buy a new game. EA probilby just picks every other requst and reads it.
