A while back I asked how to change the color of lasers. I then asked how to use them on multiplayer. Dante told me to temp it. I dont know what he meant by that or how to do it. I asked around some more so someone told me how to use a custom objects.ddb file online. It worked but I kept getting the 0 bug so I stopped because it wasnt worth it.

I still have not understood how to temp something. Will it work online without the 0 bug?

Exactly how am I supposed to temp it?

I just want to use a different colored laser online without any porblems

AFAIK, because the laser colors are defined by the weapon preset, the only way to modify the laser color would be to modify the preset library.

Soooooo...it's a no go for modifying laser colors.

He means temp the preset if you was making a MIX but your not so it doesn't matter. As i've said before he laser appears to be coloured by an XYZ value, which I can only assume is referancing part of a texture map.

I opened level edit and found all the beam textures. I edited them all and what I got was lasers that resembled watered down puke
