
Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by xSeth2k2x on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 02:11:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

First windows wont boot now this.....

~|

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Xtrm2Matt on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 09:52:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So how are you posting???

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Aircraftkiller on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 11:50:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Don't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.

Subject: Re: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by gendres on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 12:00:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

xSeth2k2xFirst windows wont boot now this.....

~|

What were you doing with the comp. before it refused to start up?

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Sk8rRIMuk on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 12:00:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This also should be in the Tech Support section :rolleyes:

You don't give much details, like what was the last thing you did, any other weird things been happening, PC specs....

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Weirdo on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 12:05:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Computer won't start up? When does it get exactly stuck.
More details please.
And of course the first real question to ask: Is the power cable plugged in?

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 12:50:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Xtrm2MattSo how are you posting???
You don't have to use the same computer to login to this board or any other boards, he could be using the library's or a friend's computer. :rolleyes:

Come on people! He needs help... :rolleyes:

I'm pretty sure I know what's wrong... To fix the problem, wait around 5 seconds after you turn the power on to your computer, and with the computer case off, gently pour room temperature water (Be careful, as cold, or hot water and splashing will hurt your computer.) over the center, making sure to equally cover all of the boards and devices.

That should do the trick, if not, you'll have to apply about 20 seconds of radio waves from a device like a microwave, but remember, only one card or device from your computer at a time, you don't want to completely ruin them. (Sometimes microwaves, or microwaves set on low aren't good enough to fix them, to be safe just put the microwave on high, or set it to 40 seconds.)

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by xSeth2k2x on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 12:52:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Aircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.

:rolleyes:

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Xtrm2Matt on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 13:03:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sir PhoenixxXtrm2MattSo how are you posting???
You don't have to use the same computer to login to this board or any other boards, he could be using the library's or a friend's computer. :rolleyes:

Come on people! He needs help... :rolleyes:

I'm pretty sure I know what's wrong... To fix the problem, wait around 5 seconds after you turn the power on to your computer, and with the computer case off, gently pour room temperature water (Be careful, as cold, or hot water and splashing will hurt your computer.) over the center, making sure to equally cover all of the boards and devices.

That should do the trick, if not, you'll have to apply about 20 seconds of radio waves from a device like a microwave, but remember, only one card or device from your computer at a time, you don't want to completely ruin them. (Sometimes microwaves, or microwaves set on low aren't good enough to fix them, to be safe just put the microwave on high, or set it to 40 seconds.)

True, but shouldn't he be emailing his Computer Company? Like Dell or whatever? Looking on their website for information which relates around this?

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by England on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 14:02:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

xSeth2k2xAircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.

:rolleyes:

Instead of making snide comments, tell people what they asked for if you want help.

Jackass

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by Weirdo on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 14:11:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Xtrm2MattSir PhoenixXtrm2MattSo how are you posting???

You don't have to use the same computer to login to this board or any other boards, he could be using the library's or a friend's computer. :rolleyes:

Come on people! He needs help... :rolleyes:

I'm pretty sure I know what's wrong... To fix the problem, wait around 5 seconds after you turn the power on to your computer, and with the computer case off, gently pour room temperature water (Be careful, as cold, or hot water and splashing will hurt your computer.) over the center, making sure to equally cover all of the boards and devices.

That should do the trick, if not, you'll have to apply about 20 seconds of radio waves from a device like a microwave, but remember, only one card or device from your computer at a time, you don't want to completely ruin them. (Sometimes microwaves, or microwaves set on low aren't good enough to fix them, to be safe just put the microwave on high, or set it to 40 seconds.)

True, but shouldn't he be emailing his Computer Company? Like Dell or whatever? Looking on their website for information which relates around this?

These ideas, sound a bit dangerous for the system. Water and electronics?

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by xSeth2k2x on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 14:20:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

EnglandxSeth2k2xAircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.

:rolleyes:

Instead of making snide comments, tell people what they asked for if you want help.

Jackass

Aircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.
So you call me a jackass because i make a reply to that

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by England on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 16:27:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

xSeth2k2xEnglandxSeth2k2xAircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.

:rolleyes:

Instead of making snide comments, tell people what they asked for if you want help.

Jackass

Aircraftkiller_is_an_assDon't mind him, he isn't the shiniest penny in the bunch.
So you call me a jackass because i make a reply to that

Yea learn to ignore him, also you still havent informed people what they wanted to know

Subject: Computer Wont Start Up
Posted by xSeth2k2x on Sun, 31 Aug 2003 18:34:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Turns on now (?) soo im back at square one...bout to format now
