Is the overall renegade ladder ever going to return. Is really that hard to fix and maintain???

This ladder within a server is kind of gay

I was just wondering if the REAL ladder will ever work again, and if it will, when?

I highly doubt that the ladder will ever work again.

Ranks still show for everyone, but they just don't change anymore.

I hope it stays the way it is, at least with out the way all the 'my rank is better then your rank' pissing contests are out of the way.

maybe some day we will be ready for its return.

I haven't played on WOL in a long time because my internet components were deleted and i dont have disc 1. I remember the ladder didn't work right at one point and npsmith came up with a program to find your rank using westwood's home site i think. Will that still work or is the ladder just busted all together?

I've heard a rumor that Crimson, ACK, and the rest of the Leaders of the Community are currently working on setting the ladder up through one of their own servers or something like that.

All I know for sure, and this confirms it, that they are working on some way of getting the ladder working again.
