And you forgot the ever popular:

"How do I go down in this helo?"

"Press E"

KIRBY098And you forgot the ever popular:

"How do I go down in this helo?"

"Press E"

You know....

This would make a great T-shirt.

Background could be a chopper full of players halfway between bases, as high as it can get, and the caption " Press E to go down, right? "

I saw you had hanes make your T-Shirts YAY!!!!!!! A good brand not some piece of shit unknown t-shirt brand!! Anyway, LOL!!! How did you get them to make you the T-shirts, and how much did it cost? BTW this is Off Topic, but how to I make an image transparent, can I color it transparent in

Cafepress takes care of fulfillment, payment processing, and shipping. We just make the images and advertise. It's a great deal they have.

Yeah I was wondering that. I suppose they ship to the UK but I bet the postage will be a bit more. It depends on the company. I know SOE tried to charge $33 to ship a Planetside game card worth $40 to the UK which is ridiculous - just for a piece of card with a number on it!

I'd check it out before you order though, some companys charge way too much - I'm sure the US parcel as well not a letter.

You give them the images, and they do everything for you? They do the T-Shirts, mugs, hats, and mouse pads?

Lol, thats a fun shirt to have in your closet, but your not gonna tell me your gonna wear that to school or work would ya?

Lol that would ready crack me up, when I see someone with that shirt at work whahaha.

Don't get me wrong I love the shirt! Its just you have to be from the CNC universe to get the idea behind it.

Thats why I put all the n00b comments on it, so other people could read it and understand. Should I make a "g-rated" version that could be worn to school etc?
