If you like MAD photoshop skills and other I337 web based topic, visit nitrous oxide...

It's a good site, even though I think dark should have wrote a bit more about it...

No site up there yet, a forums and a template for mad designs though .

Ermm, If you want to advertise sites, posting like this looks more like asskissing than advertisement.

Advertise in your signatures (like you're currently doing) and people who're interested in what you're advertising will click it.

No offence.
