I will try to get an update posted ASAP. Development has been slowed recently because some of the team members are busy taking exams (school). The project is in no way dead or dying, just several of us are being temporarily side tracked dealing with some important life-affecting issues. We have a team meeting scheduled for this week, so I expect Crimson will release an info update and updated timeline before the weekend.

Thank you for your patience

You mean Renegade isn't what life is all about? Hmmm.

*Thank you for the update, Blazer. And no one (hopefully) is blaming your bumped back schedule due to these issues. My last post was brought up ONLY because nothing was spoken of. If there was something posted in the forums or on the site like this a few days ago my thread would have never existed.

I know exactly how you feel as I am in a very simliar situation.

Good luck to all on your exams!
