
Subject: Scripts and the Writing thereof

Posted by boma57 on Tue, 07 Oct 2003 20:42:46 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I need some sort of archiving script (preferably coded in PHP), but I've never coded a line of PHP in my life.

I looked through a few tutorials, but they didn't help. What I need is a script that will archive images with a title, date and keywords for each image, then use the keywords to allow people to search the archive.

If anyone could point me to a tutorial that would be helpful for this specific type of script I would greatly appreciate it

Subject: Scripts and the Writing thereof

Posted by General Havoc on Tue, 07 Oct 2003 23:14:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You need to use a MySQL database to store the entries for each image then a PHP script to pull the data back from the database either using a search or list or whatever you want. I'm sure there are people around here who will be willing to help you out with the script writing.

It's a script that I can think how to write and I'm not that good with PHP and it seems fairly simple to do in my opinion. The date, keywords etc. would be stored in a table within a database. You can then write a script to enter the data manually with your own keywords or automatically somehow.

I'd help out if I'm sure there are people who have more free time than me at the moment and a clearer view of how it's all done.

Subject: Scripts and the Writing thereof

Posted by boma57 on Wed, 08 Oct 2003 01:45:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If anyone does want to help with the actual writing, I'll gladly take the offer...

It would be nice if the script supported news, too, but it doesn't have to.

Subject: Scripts and the Writing thereof

Posted by snipefrag on Wed, 08 Oct 2003 19:05:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Try <http://www.cutephp.com> for a news index, I use it for my site
<http://Snipefrag.blueinferno.co.uk/index.php> it's easily customisable and you can add users etc

with certain admin levels. You log in threw a seperate place <http://snipefrag.blueinferno.co.uk/news/index.php> .

You can set templates of find ones people have made on the web.. or make one yourself.
