Now I do not know if you have all compensated for wallhack in this I suppose you have but. This odd version of wallhack that I found and which we have already fixed in the anti cheat we made. But get in contact with me guys cause the way you guys plan to have renguard scan the files I have a feeling this will get by it. But get in contact with me private msgs or something because this can be a serious problem.

JellyBut get in contact with me private msgs or something because this can be a serious problem.

Why does it always start with "Get in contact...", "Meet me at...", "Email me and I'll...". Here's an idea... If you think it's a problem, and you feel you can help, EMAIL THEM. PRIVATE MESSAGE THEM. You have the information. Why make them seek you? You obviously seem willing to help, why not just send them the information you think they need, they'll sort it out, and I'm sure contact you back if they have any questions.

How hard is that?

Often PM's are ignored, or people don't know they get them, also perhaps he doesn't know who to address...

He displayed his initiative to share information ... so I don't think he was out of his bounds to request a "call back" to display their sincerity. In either case, Crimson has provided an email address so I guess it's solved.
