Please don't give out that url. It looks like you installed a mod to connect to someone else's WOL-clone servers to play one of the older CNC games. Just uninstall that and you'll be fine.

No, that one would be made by a different guy. I wouldn't trust either one with my serials.

No, it was the XCL or XCC (I dunno what I am talking about) for Renegade, I was screwing around with files I downloaded from that ladder thing Dante has up. I dunno what the heck is going on..

I cant see the link anymore, but I guess it is the program to connect to the XWIS RA2 and TS server. If so : XWIS absolutely 100% legit.

The program just redirects the connection, which would have connected to WOL, to another server (the XWIS server). Works fine, no virus, no bad stuff. I always play RA2 on the XWIS server.

The reason why u crashed to desktop, is because XWIS dont host a renegade server, but Renegade does try to connect to the XWIS server.
Use the reset button from the program and restart Renegade and you will connect to WOL again.

If u want more info on XWIS go here : http://www.strike-team.net/forums/index.php

Actually XWIS is quite a good initiative, since the goal is to keep out cheaters (which spoil the WOL server and ladders). So far I believe theyre doing a good job.

From what I've seen, he's friends with the guy who released Final Renegade. Prove me wrong and I'll change my mind, but that's the last I heard.
