Ok, ok, I realize I haven't been on the forums since westwood got shut down, so everyone has probably forgotten that I ever existed in the first place...but anyway, here I am.

Finally got a nice 500k broadband connection, which has made Renegade worth playing again. Glad to see other people still play, and that there's still plenty of servers, but I see there's something of a cheat/hack/n00b plague going on...

I know this is old news to everyone else, but I'm happy to the point of creaming myself that there's a poll kick system for Renegade...something which was badly needed from day 1.

Anyway, I'll stop before I put anyone who reads this to sleep. Good to be back in the game.
