It will be released very very soon. It has numerous bug fixes, and added stability. If you wish to see it in action, go to fasctc0nn01 because speedy is BETA testing it there. When he runs it, it stays up foe days, and currently his ladder has over 1000 entries using BR .Net 1.45.

im off to fastc0nn irc right now ty for the hint.

does BR 1.45 come with a good built in aldder that works and you can view it in game?

cos thats what i would liek to see on BRenBot a command in the bot that you can link to your renstat and view ladder ranks in irc and game.

If any one is able to help me on a way to show figures form restat.htm in irc channel it would be cool

I am considering adding support for renstat. Either by parsing the html file or directly accessing the database. I may also add a local ladder database for the linux folks.

questions..questions..questions lol one more! In BRenBot, all mods (whether temp, perm or admin) are able to access all commands (e.g. !kb etc) - will there be more limits in a future version e.g. temp mods can't access !kb ? Be great if there could and i'm still trying to work out what else you've already thought of br.net 1.45 has had a ladder database of over 10,000 wol nicks last month, not 1,000... I think most of you will be pleased with the new br.net

Problem is i want a bot that takes the results from your renstat htm file.

Not a DB

renstat stores all the info in a db, thats how it generates the html file. It will be easier for me to pull the info from renstats DB than to parse the html.
