There is no brenbot.cfg in the same directory. It will not work without a configuration.

Also, be sure to run it in the same CWD (current working directory) as brenbot itself. Running it from a shortcut without setting the right CWD will not work.

Yes, wherever you unpack brenbot, you should have these files in the same dir:

C:\Temp>cd brenbot-131

C:\Temp\BRenBot-131>dir

Volume in drive C has no label.

Volume Serial Number is 1A0E-0B01

Directory of C:\Temp\BRenBot-131

01/03/2004 06:08 AM <DIR>      .
01/03/2004 06:08 AM <DIR>      ..
01/03/2004 06:39 AM          2,612 brenbot.cfg
01/03/2004 06:19 AM           37 admins.brf
01/03/2004 06:22 AM          819 autoannounce.brf
01/03/2004 06:46 AM           31 masters.brf
01/03/2004 06:48 AM          330 messages.brf
01/03/2004 06:54 AM         6,021 help.txt
01/03/2004 06:54 AM <DIR>      html
01/04/2004 03:31 AM        16,443 perlglob.exe
01/10/2004 03:51 PM       2,712,451 brenbot.exe
01/10/2004 04:21 PM        18,715 Readme.txt
          9 File(s)    2,757,459 bytes

if you moved or copied the brenbot.exe to another dir and run it there, thats probably why. Also if you run a cmd.exe prompt and run it from another dir like C:\TEMP> \some\other\dir\brenbot.exe it will also not like that.
