SS217reven, that was just... dumb.

ok i have to tell the full story.....

when i came home from college and tried to play renegade i cant log in, so i left the game and came to MIRC at n00bstories and started to chat. during the chat i asked 1 guy "is WOL down" but he replied "NO beacause n00bserv1 is running and people are in it" so i thought it must be my internet then. i tried again but cant log in. after then i reinstalled my renegade and modem driver :rolleyes:

Ditto! Also all the number of players for all the games are different then what is in side the game. Im not talking regualr missplacments but huge ones like a game of 1/20 is actualy full.. and this apllys to allmost every server.

Earlier yesterday it just took very long for my PC to get the server list, but later that night I couldn't log on altogether. Right now it seems to work again.

WOL isnt down its just curupted. A few guys in my buddy list on WOL were shown as offline but i found them online in a game. This didnt apply to every one though but it sure pisses me off because i cant page em anymore if they are shown as offline.

Even if EA shut down WOL then REOL by RenEvo has already been tested and would make an alternative. Renegade can survive without EA's Support to some extent.

WOL is down once again. If this keeps acuring maybe they will close it due to unfixibility...
