Subject: oh, hi

hummm....begginig to feel threatened? feel like maybe this can result in better maps than those you create? laeubi is right, you are a jack ass. you care for no one but yourself. ever heard of "constructive criticizm"? oh, i know thats a new concept for you aint it. i speak for the comunity when i say that you seam to think your perfect at everything, and that no one is worthy to try.

dont even think bout saying "y dont you be nice to me then?" cuse heres the answer:

"I dont respect those who cant respect me or others, if you cant be a nice person, dont expect others to be nice to you."

oh, and heres a hint: u cant demand respect, you have to earn it i though you were good, i used to be amazed at your maps, but no longer. you dont care bout others, you dont help, you just hinder. just be kind to others, help them be better. oh yea, forgot, you want to be the best, and dont want to lose that position.

I can do nothing but roll my eyes at that stupidity and how many times he contradicts himself... Maybe I'd feel "threatened" if you were able to create rational thoughts...

Note to self...

Never mind, I already know that it's stupid to try and have any type of private conversation with him; he always just copies them to the public forum hoping everyone will jump on the bandwagon and ridicule the criticizer for him.

Yeah, I always do, seeing as how you send me lots of messages on a daily basis, all of them saying that you hate this or that about me and you want me to die, etc...

</sarcasm>

I rarely post any private messages in public. You already knew this.

I don't understand why all these people that feel the need to "stand up to" Ack must do it in such a childish manner. I also don't understand why he responds so childishly too them.

Childishness is subjective, and it isn't a term to be tossed around lightly... Unless you like people going around labeling everything you do as childish, 'cause you did it to others...

I never said anyone is childish, I am simply pointing out in certain instances they, for reasons that are beyond me, act that way.

How would me using imply that I desire for others to say things I do are childish? And why would people feel that they should use that term when referring to me simply because I have used it myself?

Yes he shouldnt speak for the community like that, but i do have one comment. The perpose of a "private message" is exactly what it says private message, no need to make someone look like a moron even if they are one
