In the report, they seem more concerned about the whale's penis than the blood and guts on the street. May have something to do with the fact that it is a sperm whale.

(Someone would have eventually pointed it out anyway)

OMFG LOL

"Once moved to a nearby nature preserve, the male specimen -- the largest whale ever recorded in Taiwan -- drew the attention of locals because of its large penis, measured at some five feet, the Taipei Times reported.

"More than 100 Tainan city residents, mostly men, have reportedly gone to see the corpse to 'experience' the size of its penis," the newspaper reported."

That made me laugh historically some reason, I have no idea why, but that right there made me laugh.

Wow people flocking to check out a whale's dick makes me vomit even more than that picture...

And yes, I can see how that could make you laugh. I never actually read the article, but I laughed at your post.
