Hey, I just reinstalled Renegade and wanted to try out the new RenAlert stuff.

I got the full install off one of the links on your site and the patch. Everything is fine in install.

Though, when I patch, it asks me where the game.exe file is. I applied it to the RenAlert.exe. (I installed it with Visual Basics 6)

When I click on the icon the autorun starts, but when I click on play it says a problem has occurred.

Any ideas?

There isn't a RenAlert.exe after patch 9915 I think. Download 9915, install that, then navigate to the new game.exe that's in the renalert folder, should work then.

If there is no Game.exe in the RenAlert folder, you installed it wrong.

Here's how I finally got .992 to work:

1. Make a folder somewhere called RenAlertWinRAR.
2. Download .991, .9915, and .992 installers into the newly created folder.
3. Install .991 into C:\Westwood\RenAlert, I think RenAlert doesn't like being anywhere but this directory.
4. Now, patch .991 to .9915. This is very simple - just double-click on the installer.
5. NOW, double-click on the .992 patch until you get the screen to select the Game.exe file. Here, navigate to C:\Westwood\RenAlert and locate the Game.exe file in that folder. Now patch that file.
6. You might have to do this, might not. Go to the Start Menu and click on Run... Now, type in regedit and follow this path: HKEY_LOCAL_MACHINE --> SOFTWARE --> Westwood --> RenAlert and click on Version in that folder. Now, make sure the version number is set to 1.

After that, RenAlert should run in .992.

Wait, do I need to patch .9915 before I patch .992?
