do the quiz, then copy the url of the image (ie right click on the image and select properties, then copy the url), then just add a [img] tag.

I took the test and got "libertarian" as well, but I can't post the picture with my PowerBook because I don't know how to copy and paste the URL to a picture like that. Anyway, I got about two ticks down from the center of the libertarian diamond.

BTW: Cool quiz thing.

Authoritarians want government to advance society and individuals through expert central planning. They often doubt whether self-government is practical. Left-authoritarians are also called socialists, while fascists are right-authoritarians.

Your Personal Self-Government Score is 30%.
Your Economic Self-Government Score is 20%.

I'm not suprised :k

The quiz is faulty. It doesn't have several of the most important issues(i.e. gun control, abortion, etc.). It cannot be accurate without polling people on more issues than it has.
