Apocalyptic Media is back online. After a couple months of being unable to be hosted, we have found a partner in DragonChat.org.

What is Apocalyptic Media?

Apocalyptic Media is a company dedicated to high quality and highly affordable web and graphics design. Each staff member has had at least 2 years experience in either web and/or graphics design.

How do I contact Apocalyptic Media to get some graphic or web designing done?

You can contact Apocalyptic Media by going to their site at <http://www.dragonchat.org/~apocalyptic> and contacting one of the staff members or by emailing Apocalyptic Media at apocalyptic@dragonchat.org.

Eh. That site needs a lot of work, a few years ago it would be pretty good, but now everything is hi-tech looking photoshop designs and flash nav bars.

the site's fine. It's simple...you don't really want anything flashy for a business. the site could use a couple changes, but nothing that's going to dramatically change it.

Generally, for a web design company, you want to show off as much as you can... Otherwise, how do they know you're capable of anything good?

hence the portfolios of the staff. my portfolio is quite shit right now...i havn't been able to put up any good links.

in life you want to show off credentials and who you are, but you're not going to wear diamond necklaces that spin and wear all this other expensive clothing. instead, you're going to go for a simple and elegant look. same as with a company...you don't want to be all flashy and show off, you just want them to know that you do quality work. if they're gonna do buisness with you, they're not going to judge completely on your site, they're gonna also look at the standards and character of the company as well as the staff. looks aren't everything.

Yeah, but if you were a jewelry designer you WOULD wear a lot of your jewelry. Your website should be a professional conglomeration of your best work.

ahhh...but if you were a jewlery designer, you wouldn't be WEARING it, you would probably have it in a briefcase or some other type of case. you would have your best work available to be seen, but you're not going to blatently show it off.

The site looks ok...Not great. If you want to make it look good though, don't make it so empty. Its very bare at the moment. I can find some links for you though if you want to go with the pixelated look.

I just made a new template for it...I think the new template is much better. I have not uploaded it yet because one of the staff members said he had a new template that he thought was good. If he gets his ass online tonight and stops fooling around with his girlfriend...I might have the new template up by 10pm EST.

^BUMP^

We are in the process of designing a new layout, so sit tight and it will be up shortly.

We are also looking for staff. We will, of course, want to see examples of your work that you have available. If you are interested in doing coding (html, css, xhtml, asp, php, java, javascript, etc...), web designing, or graphics please contact me by email or on an instant messenger.

Email - j_ball430@comcast.net
AIM - reydelaguerra
MSN - same as email
Yahoo! - j_ball430

Please come visit us at <http://www.apocalypticmedia.com>

Thank You.
