AAK625 You guys fucking suck, you know that? I come here to try and get some damned textures/skinners and you guys start parading around with your technicality flags.

Correction, there is only ONE person that sucks.. And he's the one that started the bickering and fighting..

Funny how he did it in a thread where someone is showing the community their game modification and asking for help.. Typical..

But you better read this fast before he deletes it..

Yeah. The one you're complaining about.

Shit all over this one if you want. No one wanted to join that guy's team, and if you think a discussion about the difference between "skin" and "texture" will degenerate completely, then you can stay out of there.

You have no business in the mod forum. You are there only to stir up trouble and you damn well know it.

I'm hoping Crimson gives you the "you're not welcome here anymore... You might as well just leave because I'm just going to ride your ass every time you post here so you feel bad" treatment, too.

My post was a specific reply to his "you guys fucking suck" comment. I didn't want him to feel that the WHOLE community was full of assholes, there were just a small handful of 1 or, I dunno.. 1 person that would treat him that way.

I didn't want him to get discouraged or anything because of one person..

Salutation, a greeting, not "solution."

n.

A polite expression of greeting or goodwill.

salutations Greetings indicating respect and affection; regards.

A gesture of greeting, such as a bow or kiss.

A word or phrase of greeting used to begin a letter or message.

I don't post personal conversations up with anyone, but if it's a private message that's fucking retarded, like "I think you cheat, because I died, and I don't like that" or "you're an asshole and nothing you do can change my mind, even if I'm acting the same way that's making me hate you," of course I'll post it.

Quote:Don't forget that you're using a $130 video card that was given to you basically as a bribe 15 months ago to get you to try really really hard to treat people with a little more respect..

And I did, if you recall correctly. It's just recently that my mind is changing about this place, and realizing that no matter what I do, you're going to talk as much shit as you want about me. So why should I care anymore? I don't fucking attack you in public, and if I do, I apologize for it promptly afterward.

You know why? As I've stated before, I actually respect you, but when you piss me off by making it your prerogative to attack me like you couldn't give a shit about anything I think, then what else do you fucking expect in return?

Quote:How quickly we forget that we've DONE the private conversation tract already.. like 100 times.

We've talked, maybe five times, and you rarely, if ever, discuss anything personal with me in a real time environment. You tell me "be respectful" as if I'm supposed to know what the fuck you mean. Your definition of "respectful" could be anything for all I know. This is the Internet, it isn't the god damned real world where you can tell if you're pissing someone off, or if something you say will have an adverse effect by telling how people are acting, emotionally and otherwise.

Quote:You're like the little kid, that as long as they have an adult standing around to continually slap their hand and tell them no, they do okay.. remove the adult and we're all fucked.

That's bullshit. This is exactly what I mean, what do you expect me to reply with? "Okay msgtpain, okay, I'm wrong, you're right, you couldn't possibly be wrong about this, and it doesn't matter if this entire situation is more than black and white, but shades of gray, so long as I bow down and humiliate myself in public."

If that's your aim, you're not getting it.

Skinning and texturing are both used jargon, wight to me meansthe same thing in the end.

It's normally called skinning when you place a 2d graphic on 2D applications, but when wrapping a 2d graphic around a 3d models it's called texturing.

But there is ofcourse also a diffrence in placing skins on a terrain or an object. With objects' like charackters you can most of the times easily replace the 2d graphic on the object. This is a lot like skinning with 2d applications, so who cares if it's called skinning. For terrain well, I think texturing is more appropriate, but for charackter objects, well people have skin, so why not call it skinning.

This is mine definition of skinning/texturing. I don't have much experience at texturing, so I might be wrong, but a dictionary is for me no proof in this world of made up words.

majikentSee msgtpain... ^This is exactly the reason you posted this thread. Everyone jump on the ACK BashWagon! Make sure anyone in the community that thinks you're an asshole doesn't feel they're the only one.

I didn't post this thread.. Ack cut it from the "original" thread (see the third post where I link back in to it) simply because it was in the "mod" forum, and he "can"..

One person ask for skimmers and help with their mod.

One person makes a stupid comment about how there is no such word as a "skinner" everyone else continues on in the thread arguing about if there is or isn't such a word as a skinner..

and you don't see who caused the thread to be hijacked? Do you honestly think that any one of those other people would have given a fuck about someone saying "skinner".. no.. the argument was started (and kept alive) but one person.. The same person that does it every single time..

You say you don't want anyone defending you, that's fine.. I have no intention of defending anyone (which I've clearly stated).. My sole intention is to point out that Ack is again being an asshole and a hypocrit, rather than simply let him get away with it like he always does..

Don't you find it at all funny that in every one of these threads, Ack speaks his mind 100%, and continually states that is his right, as well as anyone elses; yet.. he wants ME to PM him.. Why? cause HE can't take the criticism in public..

Don't you realize that you're complaining about things carrying on? That is what you're complaining about, if you forgot. You're mad because you think that mean ol' ACK has a habit of taking things too far for too long. Whatever.

Did you miss the point that he stopped talking about this though? :rolleyes: He got tired of all this crap, and stopped. Just like that! He just, stopped. Why do you carry on still? Worse, you're now attacking him for stopping? Yes, he DID stop, check back a page and a half.

He wants you to PM him so this shit can STOP before it turns into a multipage flame. He's been taking criticism forever, it's not like he suddenly can't take it anymore o_O Yes, I find it hysterical that ACK states his mind and says you can state yours but that's not good enough for you. respectful \Re*spect"ful\ (-f?I), a. Marked or characterized by respect; as, respectful deportment.

ACK didn't start the argument... He only stated his opinion on what he thought the term should be. What started the argument was everyone else chiming in telling him he's wrong. It wasn't kept alive by only him, as you said yourself:

msgtpaineveryone else continues on in the thread arguing about if there is or isn't such a word as a skinner..

That is what kept the argument alive.

msgtpainHe wants me to stop because it's becoming hateful and vengeful and bringing a whole lot of people in to the conversation that he would rather remain "behind the scenes"

Or did it ever occur to you that maybe he wants you to stop because it's difficult to remain friends with someone who fights him at every turn? Nobody wants to fight, especially in public, with friends. You may want to think about that.

msgtpainAs long as he pokes his nose in every single thread to make a spiteful comment, I'll be right along behind to spite him back.

Or what you could also do is just let him do what he wants, and keep to yourself. Everyone should take this advice. If people didn't react to his comments about things, however off topic they may be, there wouldn't be a 3-4 page flamewar afterwards would there... This goes back to the same "original" topic this stemmed from. AAK625 never acknowledged ACK's comment, so why should anyone else have? If I made the same exact comment, in the same exact spot, I could almost assure you that there wouldn't have been the ensuing argument afterwards. The only reason it went on as long as it did is because others seem to respond, just to fight with ACK. Just like you keep doing. I personally thought ACK's comment:

Aircraftkiller - for those who aren't paying attentionSkinner's remove the skin of animals... Texture artists create texture maps for 3D games.

Was humorous actually. Really people. He just stated his opinion on the subject (not the topic), and I doubt it was posted just to start a 3-4 page argument on the subject. That's the difference. You seem to think it was. Do you honestly think that following him around just to "spite" him is really worth while? What will it accomplish? What makes you think after long, knowing what I've observed of ACK, he won't just start doing things just to give you something to spite about. This is one of those things that should just be dropped and left alone. It's already obvious that a friendship is already dancing along the edge. Why push it? It seems right now, that your only goal is to piss him off to the point of hating you. Then what? He still won't have changed, you've lost a friend, and now you argue about everything just because he's him, and you're you. All makes it worth while doesn't it?

He has even said several times that if you have a problem with what he's doing, speak to him privately about it. I've spoken to him privately, he's not a bad guy. I just would like to know what you think you're going to accomplish by going at it the way you are. That's all. Think about it, then tell me... Is it worth it?

Sorry, I guess I wasn't aware that friendships were created by asking someone 100 times in private to stop doing what they were doing. Maybe if he would have listened a couple of those times, a friendship could have grown. But it was more of a "relationship" where I knew that in about a week or two, I was going to have to PM him and ask him to stop again.

Please show me where I stated that I wanted to show him "The error of his ways" ? This is like the 5th time I've stated.. the SOLE REASON for doing this is to piss him off just like he does everyone else.. That's it.. He wants to be an ass in everyone else's threads, then I want to be one in all of his..

I know he won't learn anything from it, but at least he won't be able to just sit back and laugh at his posts while everyone lets him get away with it and says nothing at all..

msgtpainSorry, I guess I wasn't aware that friendships were created by asking someone 100 times in private to stop doing what they were doing. Maybe if he would have listened a couple of those times, a friendship could have grown. But it was more of a "relationship" where I knew that in about a week or two, I was going to have to PM him and ask him to stop again.

Surely you can't say you only spoke to him via PM, and only to tell him to stop what he's doing. I was only pointing out that if you spoke to him 100 times in private to stop doing something, you cared at least a little bit. If you never thought of him as a friend, I guess you don't have anything to lose!

msgtpainthe SOLE REASON for doing this is to piss him off just like he does everyone else.. That's it.. He wants to be an ass in everyone else's threads, then I want to be one in all of his..

Maybe I read his posts incorrectly then because I've never been pissed off by anything he's said in any thread, regardless if I started it or not. If he wants to be an ass in everyone else's threads, let him! They will just look past it like before. The only person who seems to be having such a huge problem with it is you. And if you want to go as far as to do it, "just because he does", that's great! In no time you'll be considered an ass, just as you claim him to be. Good work!

msgtpain! know he won't learn anything from it, but at least he won't be able to just sit back and laugh at his posts while everyone lets him get away with it and says nothing at all..

Good thinking. Then he'll just get to sit back and laugh at your posts while everyone else lets him get away with it and says nothing at all..

Obviously you haven't been following the forum for very long. I'm definitely not the only one who feels this way.. Didn't you read the post started this morning in the general section? Oh wait, it's in the Silo.. you can't.

let him get away with what? what was that you said?

I never said you were the only one who feels that way. What I'm saying is your the only one going on about it. I know, I know, someone has to right? Well... No. No one does.

msgtpain! let him get away with what? what was that you said?

I said exactly what you did in your last post. Only, I cleverly said he was going to be laughing at you instead of what he wrote.

...And you say I'm not following along...

majikent! What I'm saying is your the only one going on about it. I know, I know, someone has to right? Well... No. No one does.

That's your opinion, I respectfully disagree..

You honestly think I'm going to keep on with this forever? I assure you that I'll become bored quickly. But my purpose has been served; how many flaming ack posts have you seen since I began? I may indeed just be a "person typing on the internet" like he would have you believe.. but he's not a stone pillar yet, and he does respond to negative public opinion; he just doesn't want you to think he does.

long time no see jarhead

You still owe me and the rest of the Navy guys a game

Wait a minute

That's right none of Uncle Sam's Misguided Children wanted any of that action.

And so we are still waiting.

If you want I am sure you could get one of the army guys like k9 to explain the words with more than syllable. And us Navy guys could help them with words that have two.

hehe

Trust an army toad to try to correct someone after they have been shot.
