looking to join one.

However I was wondering do serious clans really believe in tryouts or recruiting players with good WOL rankings.

If you do believe in tryouts what do you actually look for?

The reason I ask is that I play online quite a bit and sometime a few of my RL friends will join the game I am playing, some are good some are not so good, however in my experience those who are not so good, but work as a team usually do a lot better than those who can aim a mouse but

Just fishing for your 2 cents,

Gib

What I used to look for was someone willing to fit a role on the team. Obviously, you should have some skill but I preferred people who if needed to be a Hottie/tech and mine they would do that.
