I love the way you guys steal everything.

Darkdemin, you've lied you whole damn life, I can actually believe that some members here actually believe you.

1. You didn't make the first wallpaper, all you did was adding a motion blur filter on it and changed the layer style.
2. You didn't make the bullets, you don't make renders, you have no knowledge in 3DSMax or any modeling programs, give up.
3. I swear, "Apocalyptic Media" like you call it, is going to be bashed by the design community, you're layout could be made in Paint, no effort in your designs, and most of your backgrounds are stolen, the only person there that has LITTLE talent is Da_shiz, yet, judging from his avatar's background, he's not really any better than the others, you can recognize the gem texture that can be found in the RenAlert always.dat file.

That's all I have to say for now.

(Sure, I was using gaming sprites for my site before, but I didn't claim that I've made them.)

Yes, I have little talent. I have great ideas for my layouts...but I have lacked any skills in graphics design to increase the look of them. I am finally starting to learn how to create graphics in PS. My avatar was created in PSP and that was a premade background that I thought looked decent so i threw it together. I really do need to change that up tho.

I agree about Apocalyptic Media being weak and so forth. I have been learning that I have about the most talent in my group (except BadBoyGFX in graphics). Just my second true day in PS, I have already learned how to produce more quality work than DarkDemin. I can't believe that I actually somewhat envied him in his graphics skills a few months ago. In Dark's defense, I do believe that none of his work was really stolen. I too find it hard to believe that he made those shells pixel by pixel, but yet I believe him.

Aprime, instead of being ruthless and putting down everyone around you, maybe you could use some constructive criticism. Hmm...maybe you don't have the ability to give constructive criticism.

Here are a couple of links that can help:

http://www.ivysea.com/pages/ct0801\_1.html

Aprime, I bet the only reason why you flame others is to make up for other..."short comings." It makes it really easy to flame others online, but try doing that to me in real life. If you dared to talk shit like that to me to my face, you would be knocked out in an instant. I guarantee you that. I don't put up with little pussies going around and acting all big and bad because they feel that they can.

I am sick and tired of all of the flaming. Whether it be someone flaming ACK and him returning the favor, or starting up topics just to flame someone else for something that they did. We're a community and we're supposed to help each other out, not tear them apart to where we appear to be "superior" to the person that we attacked.

Lol, that's exactly what I did.

I criticised your work, but 3/4 of it is stolen, why should I be more constructive? I have nothing else to say, since it's not even your work.

I said what I thought, you're not here to teach me how to criticise work or people.

I haven't seen any "flaming" in this topic yet.

Fine...you didn't flame.....in THIS thread.

Constructive as in not claiming everything is stolen because you can't produce that by hand. And if you think everything sucks...give tips on how it can be improved, since you're a goddess on the graphics subject.

Also...I didn't just say it was this thread that you were not being constructive. I was talking in general.

Edit: HEY!!! You had constructive criticism!!! You didn't say liar or put him down...you just said that he could at least admit that he didn't make them.

Yours isn't really anymore, now that you've finally made a NICE avatar all by yourself.

I don't "flame" people on forums, rarely happens, sure...It happens to me sometimes, just like everyone, but at least I won't say it like in my example.

Minimum you could do is ask the creator of the image, or give credits for the work, both is always better though.

Yet, Darkdemin is still saying that he "made" those bullets, and it's still not true.

Aprime, I actually agree with you on something. People should ask the creator for their permission to use their work. I hate taking someone else's work and claiming it as my own because that only makes me a fraud.

DarkDemin did not steal those bullets. He is a personal friend of mine. He doesn't steal others' work. He's at least smart enough to know that he shouldn't do that.

Dudes, chill out. It doesn't really matter if he made the bullets or not. There are only 304732928137410987 other bullets in existence to be photographed and put into an existing image if he didn't draw them himself.

Just lay back and observe other's "artwork," instead of arguing over it. If someone isn't being truthful, then that's their fault, unless they take your own personal work, of course.

It may not matter or not but aprime i use to respect you, that is gone.

The london one you dont think i made eh? well ill find the PSD and send it too you, i made that water on my own not a picture a tutorial and screwed it, i took the blackhawk and cs guys shrunk them and made it look like they were in it for a funny effect, i made the shaddow and the lens flare.

The planets i will also send you the psd if you would like, that was not 1 picture, that was actually 5 or 6 pictures that i took out what i wanted and put in and added stars around them.

The hostvirus.com one i made simple as pie.

The one in my sig I DIDNT MAKE nor did i ever say i did, i took an cool wallpaper i found and put a peice and added my name, never claimed responsibility for it.

How is taking a picture of a game character and using it in your art stealing?? What about you and your use of sonic on your old forums, site, sigs, avatars and every other thing on it.

EDIT: There i took out the other one and put in one i just made all by my self happy?

Well... Art.. now i gotta show off also!!!!

To actually prove to you bloody guys that hard work an practice makes Photoshop your bitch!

Also a hint of 3DS Max never hurt

What happened to nitrous-oxides??? If nitrous-oxides is gone madtone think you could give a new company a hand?? <http://www.hostvirus.com> we would really really really appreciate it if we could use a few of them for people to buy and of course you would get money also if purchased visit our forums if you would like to think about it.

a couple of those i could match if i had the tutorials to show me how to give it the look...i could do the general design myself. The rest are beyond me and will take me awhile to learn to match.

Apocalyptic Media is lookin for staff...especially since our lead graphics designer quit graphics again.

Cinema 4D is so much better than 3DS Max, at least in my opinion. 3DS Max may have big-time game support, but it's the crowd favorite the same way Microsoft is the crowd favorite. Also, Cinema 4D is a relatively cheap program that you can buy add on modules that do specialized things to increase functionality of the program. The only really bad thing about it, I think, is that it doesn't support the .max file type. And it's mainly a German program. So the biggest support site is in German. But you can get a halfway decent translation from Google. However, it has an intensely fast raytracer and pretty much NEVER crashes. That's how it got famous. Anyway, try the demo at <http://www.cinema4d.com>

No, I don't work for Maxon.

If anyone ever decides to use 3dsmax or any other program to make a profit, make sure you buy it even if its more than what you are making. Getting money from an illegal program is just wrong.

As IRON-FART said, Sony owns Vaio, not Vio and the site won't have anything to do with Vaio or Sony.

Yea, I agree with ape.

Using filters are easy to to...and it is obvious which filters were used, and it doesn't look great. Photoshop has many tools available for use...utilize them.

Actually I wouldn't say just stick to using only one and only one filter, but don't use too many.

Da shinz

That one kicks ass, no offense but other ones suck, try to not blur everything so much

So far in the art showcase out of demin, shiz, me, z here is who i think has da skillz. (i dont mean to be cocky) but i do kinda think i am the best besides out of those 4, aprime is better than me but not by much anymore, madtone is a god and his skill p0wnz everyone in the forums.

1. cowmisfit
2. Tie for second between all 3 of you, lol no one deserves a last cause no one sucsk but it would be demin second da_shiz and z tie for 3. but everyone does have skill.

im not saying i suck...but i don't think that i should be considered lower than anybody because i havn't been using ps for very long. not saying that i should be lifted high either. it's too early to judge where i'll be at. if i'm better than some, so what, doesn't mean jack to me. I could have a white document with a 1 pixel dot on it and still be better than my brother.

i guess what i'm tryin to say is...everyone who says i suck...well then fuck you because i havn't had much time to learn. if you spent only 1 week in ps...i'd like to see your shit as good or better than mine. to all those who say i'm pretty decent...i don't really think i'm all that good, i think i've produced some quality work from the time i've been in photoshop, but i don't have enough skill or experience to be told that i'm good.

So what...

1) Your working with a company that designs graphics, the people buy graphics from you dont care if you only had one week of use on PS they would only care if your good or not.

2) When it comes down to it i had PS probaly longer than you, but i never used it. All together i probaly used PS for about 20 hours, but most of that time i just was messing with it making bull shit like this:

Not much eh, so how do i spend so much time making bull like this? Well i edited and edited it till i gave up and made a different one. Doign the same thing over and over only to make myself avatars. Nothing different only the same thing because i never knew how to do anything else. I didnt even touch a tutorial till like 2 weeks ago because i wanted to learn myself [ask Bawls]. I didnt get anywhere so i took Balws advise and used tutorials and actullay started learning stuff, though i was learning i still hardley used PS Spending less than 30min everyday. So i hardley use PS, still you use it more than me considering your part of a graphic design company so you probaly have more experiance than me. So its unfair to judge you, what about me huh? So quit complaining first of all...I am part of a web/graphics design "team" more or less cause we're technically not a company (not that it matters). i am a web designer. i create the layouts, and up until a week ago, I couldn't produce a graphic worth squat. now that i am starting to produce work worthy of being called a graphic, i am starting to become a graphics designer as well. for the majority, i am gonna stick with web design.

z, i never said that you were worthy of being judged. i am just sick and tired of people judging my work when i am basically just a web designer. if you wanna judge me, judge my layouts. forget about the graphics and look at the usability, the overall design of the site. true, i never pointed out that i'm a web designer mostly, but i would think that knowing i had only been workin in ps for a week, people would not choose to look down their noses at me. i suck at ps, i think i am getting better. i never expected anyone to go WOAHAH...AWESOME when they saw my work. you probably don't expect that from anyone as well.

as for aprime's work being art. he probably chooses it to be like that. cow, me, dark (can't say this totally for everyone but i am pretty sure of it) we aren't doing it to be art...we're doing it to be graphics. we want it to be flashy, eye catching. we are part of design companies. we want them to be like, hey...cool...that caught my eye...wonder if they could do that for my site. also, aprime has spent more time in ps and has been able to grasp the idea of tone, mood, shades, etc...

Ok... You guys want to know what art is?

For me, art is expressing myself by producing an image using the tools that i have (PS) and actually show emotion and how i feel into the picture.

You'll notice in my pieces that sometimes the graphics are bright, sharp edges and shiny.

Others you'll notice are dark, rounded and shadowed. The darker ones usually come up when im feeling down, depressed, had a shit day or just plain not happy. The brighter ones are the kind when things are going ok, im happy, enjoying myself and on a high.

Also Aprime and other guys who were on the NOS boards noticed that when i had a bit to drink, my work quality used to just make the rest of my work look like shit.

See you need to actually walk around outside see things with your own eyes and actually be inspired. These are the kind of things that make a good artist.

I've been using PS for about a year now, its my converter tool. To convert my feelings into graphical images. Im also a Grafitti artist, the can is another tool of mine to express feelings.

If you guys can get the inspiration and recognise it, you will notice the quality of your work gradually get better and better.

And to me art is a image that makes the person looking at it fell a certaint way, the feelings of the artist... thats wallpaper aprime made makes me feel a certaint way, and thats why i belive its art.

Complex editing in the bridge photo, didn't just colored it you know, same thing goes for Virgin-Stock's photo (which is by the way the hoooooootttttteeeeeesssstttttt girl I've seen ).

On a side note, Madtone "pwnz" me, and so does Aphex.

Aphex has alot of talent, the kind of talent that any company is looking for, I surely think he could find a good career in the design buisness (I'm not displaying the work he's done for me for safe reasons)

Madtone is the strangest designer I've seen, has talent in everything, average professional designer...AND photographer...But also alot busy.

We've always understood each other I think, he's one of my favorite kangaroo lover .

Good Lord, if you don't want to be judged than don't post. This is obviously a topic made for people to show off their work, so if you don't think others should have the opportunity, than don't fucking post the thing.

No one cares how long you've been using PS. Don't ride it as an excuse, come on. It is just a number, it has jack squat to do with the topic. I know what you'll reply with. "Of course it has everything to do with it!" Well if you think that you can't produce good work because of your time using photoshop, than why are you even posting at all? Was that the excuse you had for it incase someone said it was bad or sucked as you say it(which no one said by the way).

And what in the hell is this about you saying your high school education isn't as important as your photoshop work? Funny...you've been doing this for a week now and it's taken over your life. Physics and English, let's see you actually get somewhere in life with F's or 5's or whatever in those subjects, as well as any other subjects. You think you can live off a pirated graphics program? Everyone wants to be a designer or a graphics artist so they don't have to do anything? Your education can further everything in your life. Let's see you get a professional graphics job with a failing high school student education. Real cute kids, real cute.

I respect you shiz, but frankly you have acted like quite a fool.

hell no ps isn't more important than my school work. i'm just saying that when i don't care about something, i don't do it. so therefore, everything that i do, i care about. i don't plan on failing out of high school. i am and have been planning to go to college and major in business. i want to own my own company, possibly something related to computers. I have no clue what i truly want to do, but that's what i have been leaning towards. i agree that education is important and it's gonna take u farther than any amount of experience with graphics and computers. i respect those who can make a good living off of computers, but i don't expect myself to be that way.

it did sound like i was tryin to ride my experience, but it was to let people know why i am not in the running for best graphic designer. i am using this thread for showing off. i have been showing off what i've learned so far...i just have gotten the feeling that people are looking down their noses at me because i can't produce what they can.

i don't mind being judged, but when i'm being ranked against people, it makes me feel uncomfortable because it makes me feel like people are trying to show that i am lower than others. i could care less that i am, but i really don't feel the need to have it pointed out to me.

this all sounds like i'm trying to complain, but i truly am not. sorry if it has sounded like i am.

Making good wallpapers takes time. Doesn't matter how many you can churn out a minute.

BTW madtone you live in a nice place, too bad the neiborhood where i live is messed up - ive been jumped more than one for being white in my neiborhood

I haven't lived in Australia all my life, i've traveled alot around the world. I've been in some really bad place's. I get alot of my inspiration from all the traveling i do and have done.

I know what its like to be jumped, as i've been to quite a few foreign countrys where they are quite racist and hostile.

Just because its messed up doesn't mean art doesn't exist there. The kind of art that exists in your area is quite different to the art in my area. You just need to open your eyes and actually find it!

The greys, browns, blacks and yellows all can be manipulated into a piece of art, captured by a single shot of a photograph. Just try and get the angle, the lighting and the right things into the viewfinder and there you have it.

Ah right, i lived there for 3 months in East Bentley.

I then moved up to Sunny QLD in Brisbane where im currently located.

I have to admit that QLD is the best place i have ever lived in my entire life.

Lucky bastard,

I'm currently stuck over in Idaho (Love dem' taters!) in the USA

It's like a living hell compared to Australia.

I dont jump people i fight fair, as for the people who jump me would get their ass beat if the didnt all fight me at once, i start beating one person's ass then the one holds me back wile the rest gets free shots - it just isnt right. God damn racists.

Cow, jumping people is wrong fight them fairly.

lol easy there peoples, i was kidding around jeez. I only ever jumped one person because he said he wanted to rape my little sister, so we jumped him on halloween and proceeded to beat the living shit out of him, i think it was called for and fully justifiable. All other fights i've ever been in i fought fairly and thats not many fights if you dont count me fighting with my bro

Didnt mean anything by it, sorry Z, madtone hope you guys can forgive me

Somebody fill their monitor up with open windows, then take a screen shot.

Make this screenshot your desktop.

So it looks like everythings open, but it's NOT!!!!

AH HAH HAH HAH HEEE HEE HEE HAHHAHA!

...I really crack me up sometimes.

MrBobYes, Photography is an art. Maybe if somebody else and me could team up and do some stuff. For example, I can take photos, while the other person does the Photoshop crap.

Good job at sucking this landscape's soul.
