Depends on how far away they are...some troopers excel at close combat, others are long range and not so good up close. If you're more than an arms length away, It would have to be engineer, tech/hotwire, chem or flame troopers. A little bit further out, and it would include Mobius/Mendoza and grenadiers as well.

Hotwire is surely the hardest to kill. Her head is tiny, she's nimble and runs fast for her small body.

drkhazeHotwire is surely the hardest to kill. Her head is tiny, she's nimble and runs fast for her small body.

I thought all the chars (except the mutants) moved at the same speed.

If not what are the speeds of the different characters?

No what I meant was she runs at a fast speed in relation to her small body. So it's difficult to get headshots etc on her.

They all run at the same speed, except mutants. There's 1 mutant who runs slower than humans, and one that runs faster than them.

i think that mendoza is harder to hit thna hotwire because ts hard to get a good headshot on him when hes shooting u with the beam and hes also has a pack on his back which uend up hitting most of the time instead of his head.

I think Mendoza is the hardest too unless its in Multi practice and the bot is really dumb and you can kill him super easy with a normal infantry.
