on :text::#:{
  if ($nick == BOTNICK) {
    if ($2 == !downloads) {
      msg # !msg Download selection of best maps @ http://www.zunnie.hellrazer.net
    }
  }
}

You can add as much commands as you like this way.
Just enter your botnick and change the command and the !msg it does.

on :text::#:{
  if ($nick == BOTNICK) {
    if ($2 == !downloads) {
      msg # !msg Download selection of best maps @ http://zunnie.hellrazer.net
    if ($2 == !website) {
      msg # !msg Visit our website and sign up on the forum @ http://www.SourceOfQuality.nl
    if ($2 == !site) {
      msg # !msg Visit our website and sign up on the forum @ http://www.SourceOfQuality.nl
    }
  }
}

I know this is probably not the best code ever so if anyone feels he could add something, plz do so

CwazyapeNow if there was a way to capture names....

What do mean by this? -- Capture the names of players that join?

zunnieon :text::#:{
  if ($nick == BOTNICK) {
    if ($2 == !downloads) {
      msg # !msg Download selection of best maps @ http://www.zunnie.hellrazer.net
    }
  }
on :text:!website:#deathserv:if ($nick isin %servernick) { msg $chan !msg Visit the Deathserv forums at http://www.deathserv.tk }
But all on one line

So, could this be implemented for other commands as well?

Ex: op types !pwn timmay

Script executes command !ban timmay Inquire about your ban at x.com

It is possible i think, but i havent figured out how to 'read' a nick after the command.

<servbrenbot>Host:SoQzunnie !pwn Badplayer <cheater>
<ircbot>!ban Badplayer <cheater>
<servbrenbot>Host:Badplayer is being banned by ircbot@irc for: cheater

I guess this is possible but i dont know how to 'secure' this. I mean, you must let the script look if its a mod-nick triggering the ban/pwn and i dunno how to do that yet.

Use $regex and use a mod list.

    if ($regex($lower($strip($1)),( $+ %mods $+ ))) {

then for the variable:
%mods
snipesimo|flaw932|ohnoou812|zonekill9|gbcbsfnst|kikilink3|egg098|bommae|chitzkoi2|rocsnper|gr
ebstlaz|rachael6|taardvark|lekrovov2|dmdhoomer|jessie182|uldschool|ghostopsx|dogtired2|littlfuzz
|dellton|falmark|mortock42|wackoglow

Also if you want to do a page command try something like this:
msg $chan !page $strip($remove($1, Usage: !kick <reason>

Note I will probably add custom commands ability to brenbot, probably will use an XML format like br.net, but only if its requested on mantis.n00bstories.com

So i wont get banned from the Mantis-project when i post request to have that in a future update?
I'd love to add some custom commands I already did so via little irc scripts and so on. But default support for this inside BRenBot would be very ace ^^
