Renguard Warriors,

I downloaded and installed Renguard a few minutes ago. I logged onto one of your servers and received two error messages - one about skins and the other about an invalid file named "data/desktop.ini" "in the Renegade directory." I can't find that file. I searched the whole drive and didn't find any in the Renegade directory or subdirectories. 5 files came up in my search, but they were all under the "Windows" directory or subdirectories. I can get rid of the new skins, but I assure you, there is nothing unethical about them, including neon colored mines or beacons. Should I send these skins to you for analysis?

Please help and thanks!

It's a hidden INI file that is automatically created by Windows.
