Nah, only three of your posts overlapped IPs. I'd say you are his friend... and after your 6th grade day was over you went to his house and he told you to make an account for yourself and agree with him... then you went home and continued the conversations on your dad's computer.

I'm sorry, but UN is NOT the most popular group of servers...

You only came on here because Alkaline asked you to. I am thinking you're not the same person anymore because it would be entirely too difficult to switch IPs back and forth... unless he has more than one IP through his ISP...

I'm not completely convinced that you aren't Alkaline yet... continue to talk like him and you will follow his destiny.

Right :rolleyes:

He joins the forums, and proceeds to insult anybody who disagrees with him or if their opinion is different from theirs. Hell, he even insulted people who simply replied in a forum thread he disagreed with. He then goes on to call Crimson names and say that Renguard is a total flop, pulling statistics out of his ass simply to back up his "facts".

Now, many people in here grew weary of him and his "I'm holier than thou" routine, myself included. His banning certainly will prove to be a pleasant change of pace in here.
